

MR. FILLMORE ON THE WAR.

His Address at the Christian Commission Central Fair, in Buffalo.

At the opening of the great Central Fair, inaugurated by the Christian Commission at St. James Hall, Buffalo, Monday evening, February 22d, Ex-President Fillmore spoke as follows:

Three years of civil war have desolated the fairest portion of our land, loaded the country with an enormous debt, and the sweat of millions yet unborn must be taxed to pay: arrayed brother against brother, and father against son in mortal combat; deluged our country with fraternal blood, whizzed our battle fields with the bones of the slain, and darkened the sky with the pall of mourning. Yet these appalling calamities—which as yet have touched our city more lightly than any other in the land—have imposed upon us new duties which must be promptly met and generously discharged, and new sacrifices which must be patiently and cheerfully borne. We cannot, in our humble capacity, control the events of this desolating war. We hear its thunder and mark the track of desolation, and we must meet the emergency as best we can, but never despair of the republic. It is no time now to inquire whether it might have been avoided. Let those who seek light on this subject read Washington's Farewell Address. Nor are we now to criticize the conduct of those who control it, awaiting advice here and bestowing assurance there. The important history of this war when the passions engendered by the strife have cooled, and partisan prejudice, petty jealousies, malignant envy, and intriguing selfish ambition shall be laid in the dust, and it is hoped, laid in oblivion. And much less are we called upon to speculate when or how this war will end. Let those who seek light on the subject read General Jackson's Farewell Address. But let us hope that an all-wise and merciful Providence will incline the hearts of the people, North and South, to meet in a lasting peace, with a restored Union, cemented by fraternal affection, under our well-tried and glorious Constitution. Nor is this the time or place to express an opinion as to the policy that should be pursued to reach the desired end. For our duty here is to do what we can for him, not to fight, but to aid, before this Union can be restored; and therefore it is to be hoped that all unbecoming acts of cruelty, or wanton destruction of private property, or the commission of any crime in the name of the Union, should be avoided; for all such acts only fill the heart of our adversary with resentment and revenge, and thus protract the war, increase its horrors, and leave a sting which will render reunion impossible. But it may be applicable to all that the first step toward bringing this war to a close is to conquer the rebel army. Any negotiations for peace before this is done would prove abortive; and any professed generosity to those in arms, who are a power, would be treated with ridicule and contempt. But when we have conquered their armies, and disposed of their leaders, then let us show our magnanimity and generosity by winning back the rebel army, and by restoring them to their rights under the Constitution. This I now leave to the Christian Commission, and the best policy, and the noblest efforts, to reach this Union.

"SLAVERY IS DEAD."

The Albany Argus, commenting upon the oft-repeated assertion of the administration press that "slavery is dead," and the "backbone of the rebellion broken," very truly observes:

"The abolition leaders have proclaimed that the war should be prosecuted until slavery was destroyed. If that result has been accomplished, why is it prolonged? Is the same strain that above announcement is made, we are told that the 'backbone of the rebellion is broken,' that 'thousands of the people of the rebel States are returning to the Union,' and great numbers of their armies are ready to desert to our lines as soon as the opportunity occurs; and yet the President has just issued a proclamation for a draft for five hundred thousand more men! If slavery is dead, and the 'backbone of the rebellion is broken,' as is asserted by all the Union papers in the loyal States, where is the necessity for this extraordinary demand for men? Is it to pile up the national debt another thousand million of dollars to enrich thousands of contractors and accommodate place-hunters, or is it to perpetuate the present imbecile and corrupt administration?"

THE DRAFT TO BE MADE.

General Fry on Wednesday, March 4, directing the draft to commence on the 10th instant in all such districts as had not filled their quotas before the 1st instant. All volunteers enlisting before the 10th instant made full deduction from the quota by the board of enrollment. If the quota shall not be filled by the 10th, further drafts are to be made until the entire quota is obtained.

On Thursday, March 4, the House of Representatives passed the present extra draft bill. The bill provides that the Secretary of War expressing that the requisite number of men could be raised more expeditiously by the payment of bounties than by any other means, in view of this action of the Senate, the impression at Washington on Thursday morning, many persons were that the draft ordered for the 10th inst. would be postponed.

The draft has been postponed.

An Accidental Battle.—Senator Wilkinson, of Minnesota, in a speech in the U. S. Senate, on Wednesday, said he was informed before the battle of Gettysburg, which he considered the greatest battle on record, the order had been issued for a retreat, which would have been carried out if one of the corps in advance had not already been engaged, rendering a retreat impossible.

The State Senate was organized, after a fashion, on Monday. Dr. St. Clair, the new Senator from Armstrong, took his seat, when on motion of a Republican Senator, the body proceeded to the election of a Clerk. (Geo. W. Hammersley.) The Democratic Senators adhered to their position, and refused to recognize Mr. Penny as Speaker, who, they said, was a mere usurper, who had not been elected according to law. All the other officers of the Senate were then selected, receiving each 17 votes, the Democrats refusing to vote.

The Democratic National Convention.—The Common Council of Chicago have passed a series of patriotic resolutions, returning "thanks to the National Democratic Committee for its selection of Chicago as the place of meeting of its Convention." The hospitalities of the city are extended to the Convention, and "gratification" is expressed "at the assembling of the delegates of a great and patriotic party in our midst on the nation's natal day." Several Republican members of the Council voted for the resolutions.

The Democrats of Franklin county met recently and elected C. M. Duncan, Esq., Representative Delegate to the State Convention, instructed in favor of General George B. McClellan as the Democratic Presidential nominee.

H. G. Smith, Esq., of the Fulton Democrat, is the Senatorial Delegate for this district.

Nearly all the counties are instructing for McClellan.

The Philadelphia Age.—The publishers of the Philadelphia Age announce a slight increase in the terms of their daily issue from and after the first of March. They do not complain of any lack of patronage as rendering this step necessary, but the enormous increase in the cost of everything necessary in furnishing a first-class paper. At the present cost of paper, type, ink, labor, &c., the margin for profits on a daily paper are extremely small, and we are satisfied that the public will pay the slight advance rather than be deprived of so independent and welcome a daily visitor.

The Antietam Battle Field.—In the Maryland Senate, on Wednesday, the committee on the Antietam battle-field reported in favor of the purchase of twenty acres of the battle-field, and jointly with the State of New York, which agrees to bear half the expense, to re-inter therein the remains of the soldiers of the Union who fell in the battle. They also propose the purchase of three acres upon South Mountain, upon which to erect a monument to Gen. Reno.

Gen. Sigel has been assigned the command of Western Virginia, in place of Gen. Kelly. The friends of the latter are very indignant, declaring that their favorite was only removed in order to give the President an opportunity to conciliate the radical German Republicans of the West by the appointment of Sigel.

Extract from a Washington letter to the Dayton (Ohio) Journal, the home organ of Gen. Schenck:

"The politicians are trying to kill Lincoln, and I think they will succeed. Chase stock has gone down entirely. Seward is trying to loom up, but can't. The chances are in favor of some military man, and if Banks takes Mobile, he will be the next President."

A short time since Mr. Lincoln observed to a friend he "thought the tide was running all one way, in his favor." He may have occasion to change his opinion before long, if he has not already done so.

The contest for the Abolition-Republican nomination is assuming a triangular form. Thus, the New York Tribune, of Wednesday, announces that:

"A Fremont Campaign Club is about to be formed in this city, for the purpose of bringing the name of John C. Fremont before the National Convention, as a candidate for the Presidency."

A delegate from Chicago in the "Freedom Convention" at Louisville, announced that some of the Germans of Chicago had burned Copperheads.

The Missouri Legislature decided by 45 yeas against Mr. Lincoln's second term. The majority will go considerably better.

WHAT IT COSTS.

Thurlow Weed in a recent letter to Senator Morgan says that the war will have cost at its termination at least four thousand millions of dollars, and that three-fourths of this amount will remain as a national debt. Here is a sum almost fabulous and equivalent to one thousand dollars for every slave in the United States at the commencement of the war. Add to this the hundreds of thousands slain—the hosts of brave and strong—unfortunates shattered by disease—the whole desolate of country ruined and homes made desolate—a country crippled and seething with passions that will not and cannot be allayed, and you have an approximate estimate of what it will cost this nation to learn the important lesson that our Government was formed in a spirit of liberty and compromise, and that only by an exercise of the same spirit can it be maintained? Happily for the authors of this conflict, the graves that will cover them cannot be penetrated by the curses of posterity.

THE ENROLLMENT BILL.

Has passed both Houses of Congress, and President Lincoln has signed it. The following are among its most important provisions:

Persons enrolled may furnish at any time previous to the draft an acceptable substitute who is not liable, and such persons thus furnishing a substitute shall be exempt from the draft not exceeding the time for which such substitutes shall have been accepted. Any person drafted may, before the time fixed for his appearance at the draft, tender to the board of enrollment an acceptable substitute, subject to such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary of War. If any drafted person shall hereafter pay money for the procurement of a substitute, such payment shall operate only to relieve the person from draft on that call, and his name shall be retained on the roll, and he shall be subject to draft in filling that quota, and his name shall be retained on the roll in filling future quotas. But in no instance shall the exemption of any person on account of his payment of commutation money for the procurement of a substitute extend beyond one year; but at the end of one year in every such case the name of any person so exempted shall be enrolled again, if not before returned to the enrollment list under the provision of this section.

General Fremont's Grievances.—General Fremont has written a letter to General Schenck, the Chairman of the Military Committee of the House, which may be regarded, we suppose, as a very significant document coming from an independent candidate for the Presidency. It is anything but friendly in its tone towards the Administration. Indeed, it is a severe rebuke for harsh treatment at their hands, which the General complains of as unjust and offensive. First, in retiring him from active service against his will for the space of sixteen months; next, in reducing him to serve under Gen. Pope, which he pronounces "an unmerited insult;" and finally, in giving an important command, which was expressly arranged for him by the Secretary of War and approved by the President during the last session of Congress, to another officer. General Fremont is grievously offended at these slights, and he takes the opportunity of telling the public so.

A special dispatch from Washington to the Cincinnati Commercial says it positively stated by gentlemen who enjoy unusual means of information on political subjects, that Fremont has determined to announce himself as an independent candidate for the Presidency, and that the radical Germans have pledged him their support.

Nearly all of the German Republican papers in the Western States have signified their hostility to President Lincoln, and a new monthly has been started at Chicago in the German language for the express purpose of preventing his re-nomination. Should he succeed in the Convention at Baltimore, this large element will doubtless go for Fremont as an independent candidate. In such a contest, the Democracy must win.

"Age," the well-known Washington correspondent of the Baltimore Sun, says: "At a meeting of the Republican Association in this city, last (Saturday) evening, it was made manifest that a Chase element existed in that organization." That is so; indeed it was so manifest, that a resolution offered in favor of Lincoln's re-nomination met with stern and unrelenting opposition. To get rid of the subject, it was either withdrawn or laid on the table. The Chase element was the stronger—says the Washington Constitutional Union.

Troy, New York, March 1.—At the municipal election to-day, a large vote was polled. The Democrats elected their candidate for mayor by 700 majority. Six of the ten aldermen are Democrats, and the whole Democratic city ticket was elected by an increase of 600 over the majority of last year.

Lockport, March 1.—The entire Democratic ticket was elected to-day by about 150 majority.

Yonkers, March 1.—The Democratic ticket for village officers has been elected by about 400 majority.

The Clinton Democrat says the town elections recently held in that county have resulted in a complete Democratic triumph. The Abolitionists carried only one township in full and three boroughs in part. The Democrat "would not be surprised if Clinton gives a Democratic majority high up in the teens," which we suppose means from fourteen to eighteen hundred. That will do.

The Democrats carried the spring election in Hollidaysburg. The Repub's did not put a ticket in the field, excepting for judge in the East Ward, and that one was beaten two to one.

Another Democratic Victory.—At an election recently held in the borough of Northumberland, the Democrats carried their entire ticket by a handsome majority. Both parties had full tickets in the field, and the Abolitionists were more than usually active. The result is, that the borough of Northumberland this day presents the proud spectacle of not having one single individual of nigger worshipping proclivities in a municipal office.

The recent city and town elections throughout this State show decided Democratic gains. Thus the city of Troy increases its Democratic vote six hundred. Lockport, Yonkers and Oswego also show conservative gains. When the country begins to realize the atrocity of the Florida massacre it will cost Mr. Lincoln more votes in every county of the North than he ever hoped to secure in the whole State of Florida.—New York World.

CAN THE REPUBLICAN PARTY RESTORE THE UNION?

The main question for the people to decide at the next election, says the N. Y. World, is, whether the Republican party has given evidence, during the presidential term soon to expire, of ability and capacity to restore the Union. They have not been assisted in men nor scintilla in means; no government ever before wielded such immense resources. If they have not succeeded, they cannot plead that they have not had a fair trial. Money, men, the command of the sea, new and surprising inventions in naval architecture and in gunnery, the advantage of operating against a people whose main industry was exerted in producing a great article of foreign export, and whose first necessity is a foreign market, and this people hemmed in by a blockade, without a navy or resources to create one—with this extraordinary combination of advantages the administration has failed only by reason of its inability.

It may be said, indeed, that our arms have made great progress. But who, without renouncing all claims to solidity of judgment, can say that this progress has been at all proportionate to its cost? East of the Alleghenies, the war has been, on the whole, a failure. We have made a few incursions into the rear of the rebellion on the Atlantic slope; but Richmond and Charleston still hold us at defiance, and the vast belt of territory stretching from the Potomac to Cape Sable remains, with the exception of a few hundred square miles, in possession of the rebels. Is this success? We do not ask if it is success proportioned to the enormous scale of our expenditure, but is it not proportioned to consider it as successful? Washington has been almost constantly menaced; the invader has been twice upon our soil in great force; and no longer ago than last summer the safety of our great Atlantic cities depended on the issue of a single battle. That battle was, by fierce and vigorous fighting, decided in our favor; but since then, east of the Alleghenies, we have gained absolutely nothing. To settle down in exhaustion and impotence after repelling a formidable invasion, gives but feeble promise of that complete conquest of the enemy's country which is the object of the war.

In the West, where our generals have been further removed from the blundering and inefficiency of the administration, our success has been more proportionate to the vast scale of our expenditures. But even in the West our gains are as yet so insecure that one great rebel victory might change the whole face of affairs. If Grant should be beaten by Johnston, and Tennessee be thereby recovered by the rebels, our most important advantages in the West would be almost annihilated. While matters remain in such a state that a single battle might dispossess us of a great part of what we have gained, exultation is premature, and preparations to administer upon the estate of the dead rebellion absurd.

If we get through the spring campaign without heavy disaster, we shall owe little thanks to the administration. They have trifled away the fall and winter in venting crude abolition follies and in presidential making; and the spring campaigns are opening with inadequate preparations. We are to have an immense draft in March or April. If, as we are told, the great death-grapple with the rebellion is to take place this spring, how can these raw levies profit us? They are too late to help us win victories; they are not even early enough to arrest and roll back the tide of defeat if the fortune of war should be against us. The administration has no foresight; all its chief movements are forced upon it by the preparations or the successes of the rebels. It found out, all of a sudden, in the summer of 1862, that it needed six hundred thousand more men than it had anticipated the preceding spring, when it put a stop to enlistments. The draft last year was ordered close on the heels of a rebel invasion. The draft ordered for this spring results from an unexpected discovery of the great extent of the rebel preparations during the winter. An administration which is never wise till after the event, which is perpetually making representations that the war is near its close, and following them up by such enormous calls for new troops as prove them unfounded; an administration which gives these constant proofs that it neither understands the present nor sees an inch before its nose into the future, is incapable of restoring the Union.

But can the Republican party substitute a better? A large majority of the party can discover no clearer way out of our difficulties than to re-elect Mr. Lincoln, and keep in the same set of incapables that have so long mismanaged the war. The dissentients do not go outside of Mr. Lincoln's cabinet for a candidate. They do not promise to put into the government any greater wisdom than is already in it. The chief point of superiority claimed for Mr. Chase is that he is a more reliable abolitionist; which, if it were a merit, would only place him in relation with questions to arise after the war, not demonstrate his capacity to manage it. The Republicans have been making party capital for the last six months, out of the idea that the rebellion is about to break down from exhaustion. For it to end from such a cause would reflect little credit on the administration, which ought to have recovered the revolted territory by military vigor, while it had yet wealth to alleviate the burden of our taxes. But we fear that the expectation of an easy conquest this spring is a delusive dream. We have no doubt the war will run into the next administration, and if that administration is Republican, then, farewell, a long farewell to the Union.

The President Taking the Reins.—We are informed that the President has issued orders to the Secretary of War, and of the Navy, to give out no more advertising of their respective departments, except under his direction and to papers of his selection. This implies a doubt on his part of the friendly disposition of his two ministers. He smells treason in the camp.

Mr. Greeley doesn't say, "God bless Abraham Lincoln," now. It's another kind of an expression.

The dead body of a soldier was found in a Line Kiln near Chambersburg on Monday evening of last week. It is supposed he was murdered by a colored man who had been seen in company with him during the day, for the purpose of securing his (the soldier's) bounty money which he had received.

ABOLISHING THE REBELLION.

We find the following among the proceedings of the House at Washington on Friday week:

Mr. Long (Ohio) offered a preamble containing the following resolution: Resolved, That the President of the United States be and is hereby most earnestly and respectfully requested to appoint Francis Pickens, of New Hampshire, Millard Fillmore, of New York, and Thomas Ewing, of Ohio, and such other persons as the President shall see proper to select, as Commissioners on the part of the United States, who shall be empowered to most Commissioners of a like number for the same object on behalf of the Confederate States, at such time and place as may be agreed upon, to ascertain, before a renewal of hostilities, whether the war shall not come to a close, and the Union restored by a return of all the States to their allegiance and rights under the Constitution.

The resolution was rejected—yeas 22, nays 95.

Mr. Schenck (N. Y.) offered a series of resolutions, to wit:

That the present war against the armed insurgents landed under the name of the Southern Confederacy, was brought on by a wicked and wholly inexcusable rebellion, and all those engaged in aiding and abetting it have incurred the name of public enemies, and shall be treated as such.

The above was agreed to. The next branch was read, namely: This rebellion should be effectually put down, and, to prevent the recurrence of such a rebellion in future, the cause which led to this one must be permanently removed.

The yeas and nays were demanded on the last clause, and the removal of the cause of the rebellion.

J. C. Allen, as his name was called, voted yeas, and made an ex-cise laugh.

Mr. Allen (Mass.) voted no. This caused much merriment, but the gentleman eventually changed his vote, explaining that he for the moment thought he was voting right, being opposed to the gentleman from Illinois.

Mr. Cox, (Ohio), amid the confusion, said: We on this side vote for the resolution, because the causes of the war were Abolition and Secession and ought to be removed.

Mr. Mallory (Ky.) said he voted yeas for the reason similar to that just assigned by the gentleman from Ohio.

The roll call having been completed, the result was announced as unanimous, viz: yeas 125.

The next resolution in the series was read as follows:

Resolved, That in the struggle now going on for the safety of our country and free government there is no middle ground on which any good citizen or true patriot can stand, neutrality or indifference, or anything short of a hearty support of the Government being a crime where the question is between loyalty and treason.

This last resolution was also unanimously adopted.

Mr. Cox offered the following resolution: Resolved, That the rebellion be, and the same is hereby abolished.

This was agreed to amid laughter.

Mr. Pendleton (Ohio) offered the following: Resolved, That, as the sense of the House, the most earnest without civil war, and that by military commission, without jury, of Clement L. Vallandigham, a Gen. of Ohio, and in the land of naval forces of the United States, or in the military service, by order of Major General Burnside, and his subsequent banishment by order of the President, executed by military force, were acts of me a military power, in palpable violation of the Constitution and the laws of the United States.

Rejected—yeas 47, nays 76.

On the 23d ult., the workmen of the city of New York met to the number of several thousand, and after a speech from the President of the meeting, a series of resolutions were passed denouncing the war as presented at the interest of negro emancipation, as being unjust and unlawful in its purposes, and as tending to enrich the idle and worthless few at the expense of the toiling and producing millions. A committee was appointed to prepare an address to the workmen of the United States, and steps were taken to call a National Convention of all the trades, in order to take practical measures to interpose the influence of the laboring classes everywhere against the further prosecution of the war, and to seek relief from the burdens which it inevitably imposes in the shape of high taxes and the increasing rates of all articles of consumption.

Plots and Counterplots.—Several leading Abolition New York politicians arrived in Washington, the other day, and had a long interview with Mr. Lincoln. They assert publicly that the President, owing to movements against him by friends of Mr. Chase, has determined to take charge of all the patronage in the Treasury department, particularly that of the New York Custom House. This course, it is believed, will weaken Mr. Lincoln and strengthen Mr. Chase.

The Republican National Executive Committee, which convened at Washington on Monday week, did a very proper as well as significant act in refusing to admit delegates who claimed to represent Arkansas, Tennessee, Florida and other rotten borough states. These bogus delegates were all for Lincoln, and if the National Convention, when it meets next June, takes the same ground, the N. Y. World does not see how he can be nominated, as his strength will be in such delegations. This strife for the nomination will develop a healthy feeling in the Republican party against the rotten borough state scheme.

A Compromising Spirit.—The Louisville Journal tells an anecdote of an officer which is worth preserving. The gentleman is a violent Republican, and both before and since going into the army has opposed, with all the zeal and ability of which he is possessed, the Crittenden Compromise. At the battle of Chickamauga, when our routed wing was falling back in great disorder, and the mass of the enemy pushing forward with a shower of shell, grape, canister, and musketry, this gentleman, who was in the midst of the deadly torrent, and who uttered somewhat in his speech, turned to a fellow soldier and said: "Gee, George! if Governor Crittenden were to re-raise us now f-f-f from his g-g-g-grave, and offer me the C-c-crittenden com-com-compromise, would I would take it!"

Washington, March 1.—The President by message to the House of Representatives has approved of the bill reviving the grade of Lieutenant General. Shortly afterwards the President sent to the Senate the nomination of General Grant for the position of Lieutenant General.

We notice in the last number of the Lutheran and Missionary, that Rev. S. S. Schmucker, D. D., gives notice of his intention to resign the Professorship of Didactic Theology in the Theological Seminary at this place. He has occupied the position for nearly forty years. His chief reasons for this step are increasing infirmities of age and a desire to devote the remaining years of his life more particularly to literary labors.

OUTRAGEOUS.—On Sunday night last, stones were thrown into the bedroom windows of several of our most respectable citizens, in prominent sections of the town. The dwellings of Mr. George Swope and Mr. T. J. Carson, on York street, and Rev. Dr. Deane, on West Middle street, were assailed in this outrageous manner. The perpetrators of the deed have not yet been discovered, but no effort should be spared to ferret them out. Is there no way to protect our citizens from such and all other acts of violence?

The following is a list of the veterans in Capt. Adair's company, 5th Pa. Regiment, who have re-enlisted, and had themselves accredited to Conowingo township, Adams county:

The quota for Conowingo township is 16, which has been filled entirely out of the 5th Regiment—paying the men a bounty of $170.

HEAD AND FEET.—All who study the art of dress say that to appear neat you must keep your head and feet well-dressed. To do this it is only necessary to buy your Boots, Shoes and Hs of Row & Woods. They are introducing a superior article of shoes of all kinds, and there will no longer be complaints heard about bad "store shoes," if people who want boots or shoes for men, boys, ladies or children, buy them at the right place. The place to buy hats, caps, boots, shoes, trunks, carpet bags, wall paper, notions, and many other things, is the store of Row & Woods, corner of York street and the Diamond, Gettysburg.

TRIMMING TREES.—The present is the proper time to attend to this work, before the sap begins to ascend from the roots to the trunk and limbs, and thus insure a plentiful growth of shoots and consequently an abundant foliage, which, as every housekeeper knows, is a very desirable thing around one's dwelling during the sultry months of summer. This month and April will do for preparing and planting out young trees, but the latter month is rather too late for trimming. In this section too little attention is paid to a proper time for trimming, and too many prune their trees in the latter part of April and in May when buds are not only ready to burst, but even are open. We have found from our own limited experience that this is the month to trim grape vines, and we never knew of one thus managed not to flourish and bear abundantly.

The superabundance of paper money in the United States has driven all our small silver coin, debased as it is far below the British mint standard, over to Canada. It is so abundant there that they call it a nuisance. We wish they would drive that nuisance this way again.

AN UNPLEASANT SURPRISE TO A PRACTICAL JOKER.—Samuel W. Day, who was convicted of passing a false marriage notice to this paper, was sentenced at Trenton last week to pay a fine of $25 and costs of prosecution. Another complaint for sending a similar notice to the Trenton Gazette was laid on file.—Boston Jour.

A few similar instances of punishment in this State would have an excellent effect. If there be no law to punish such "practical jokes," one should be at once enacted.

Several days ago the House of Representatives called upon the President to publish a statement of the number of re-enlisted veterans from each State, and other information in that connection. To this the President has replied, inclosing a communication from the Secretary of War, who says that in his opinion it would be prejudicial to the public service to transmit to the House, at the present time, the information requested.

THE WAR NEWS.

Statements from Florida report that on the afternoon of the 20th ult., the Union troops under Gen. Seymour, met the Confederates, 15,000 strong, fifty miles beyond Jacksonville, and eight miles beyond Sanderson, on the line of the Jacksonville and Tallahassee railroad. The battle was desperately fought during three hours, and at sunset the Union forces, overpowered by numbers, retired to Sanderson, taking with them the greater part of the wounded. The Union loss is variously estimated at from 500 to 1,500, killed, wounded and missing, including several officers.

On the 18th ult., the United States steamship-war, Housatonic, carrying thirteen guns, was struck, in Charleston harbor, by a torpedo, propelled by the same cigar-shaped steamer which was directed against the Ironsides some time since. The sides of the Housatonic were stove in, and she sank soon after off Beach Inlet. Two officers and three men were lost. The remainder of the crew were saved by clinging to the floating until rescued by the boats of the fleet.

General Smith's cavalry expedition, which started simultaneously with Sherman's infantry movement, has been so seriously hampered by the rebels as to be obliged to retreat back to Memphis. Among the objects of this cavalry expedition was the destruction of railroad cars and engines, and the capture of the Confederates in Mississippi.

In this, according to report, they partially succeeded, but the expedition failed in the main object, which was to form a junction with Sherman at some point in Alabama, or near the line of Alabama and Mississippi. The movement, therefore, has ended badly, and we begin, for the first time, to feel some apprehensions for the success of the whole Sherman campaign.

There is a report that General Logan's cavalry had proceeded from Huntsville, Ala., and succeeded in joining General Sherman at Selma, and that General Thomas had advanced on the Confederates at Dalton.

Richmond papers state that Gen. Bragg is on duty at that city, and under the direction of Jeff. Davis, is engaged with the conduct of military operations in the army of the Confederacy.

A dispatch from Knoxville, Tennessee, states that the Union forces have reached Morristown, in that State, and that Longstreet is in full retreat eastward, marching upon both banks of the Holston river.

Southern dispatches of the 20th state that the Confederate forces under Gen. Finnegun occupied Vicksburg, (Miss.), this afternoon. The morning before the city was in the hands of the Union forces, but the Confederates intended to press their advantage with vigor.

Within a few days past two or three important expeditions have been sent out from the Army of the Potomac. A cavalry force under Gen. Custer surprised a Confederate camp near Staffordville, and destroyed it, capturing a number of prisoners, and a large quantity of military stores.

There is a report that the flank of Gen. Lee's army, and subsequently a detachment of it, is on the side of the Rappahannock. Another expedition under Gen. Kilpatrick had also been sent out, to make an extensive tour of the Confederate lines, and on Monday he was reported to have reached Spotsylvania Court House.

There has been no intelligence from Gen. Sherman for several days—not since he reported arrival at Selma on Monday. On the 20th, however, that Sherman's detachment reached "Pearly Point," a point supposed to be east or southeast of Meridian, which point Sherman had reached by the 20th or 22d of February.

A dispatch from Washington mentions a rumor that Gen. Butler has succeeded in making arrangements with Commissioner Ould which will probably lead to an exchange of prisoners, and a cessation of hostilities.

Washington, March 1.—The expedition under Generals Smith and Grierson, that was undertaken with a view of co-operating with General Sherman, has ended in a manner and on a scale more severe than has been stated. A large number of stragglers, not yet estimated, have been captured by the enemy. As to our losses in killed and wounded, we have no means of knowing an official report, except one published on that subject. During the numerous attacks which took place all along our lines a regiment of cavalry was entirely overwhelmed by Chalmers' men and broke away, leaving three guns in the hands of the rebels.

The failure of Generals Smith and Grierson has produced a very sad impression here, not merely on account of what they have failed to accomplish, but on account of the dangerous position in which General Sherman is placed by their retreat. It is generally believed that the latter, who contemplated an attack upon Selma, will be compelled to give up his project and to fall back upon Vicksburg, which would have a most disastrous effect upon the morale of our troops.

HEADQUARTERS, ARMY OF THE POTOMAC, March 2.—General Custer started with a force of cavalry on Sunday, to make a reconnaissance towards Gordonsville, the Sixth corps, General Sedgwick, following in support. He passed through Madison Court House on Monday morning, and reaching Wolf-ton, a few miles beyond, encountered a rebel picket, which he captured. Passing across the Rappahannock River, he then encountered a body of cavalry under General Stuart, driving them a considerable distance. Captain Ash, of the Fifth United States cavalry (regulars), charged on a rebel camp near this place, with sixty men, drove the enemy, burned their tents, six caissons and two lances, and retreated without the loss of a single man. This was one of the boldest feats our cavalry has made during the war.

Finding his small force opposed by infantry, Stuart's cavalry, and several batteries, which opened upon him, and that a number of trains had just arrived with troops to oppose his advance, he determined to return—and did return with trifling loss, although Stuart made vigorous pursuit. Gen. Custer and his force reached their old camp to-day.

A dispatch from Washington states that important information has been received there in relation to the progress of General Kilpatrick's expedition towards Richmond. It is said to have reached White House, on the Pamunkey river, about twenty-five miles from Richmond, and to have formed a junction with a force sent up by General Butler from the Peninsula. The object of this expedition is said to be to attack and to liberate the Union prisoners confined there.

Richmond papers state that the torpedo boat which sunk the Housatonic must also have been lost.

The Richmond papers contain a number of dispatches concerning Gen. Sherman's movements in Mississippi, alleging that he has withdrawn from the river, and is now retreating back to Vicksburg. A dispatch to the Confederate War Department announces this officially, and it is reported from several other Southern sources, though there are reports equally as late, placing him thirty miles east of Vicksburg, and Gen. Polk on the east side of the Tombigbee, at Demopolis, waiting

THE FLORIDA CAMPAIGN.
The Union Defeat at Olustee.—The New York Herald gives the resume of Gillmore's brief but disastrous campaign in Florida, which we append:
"In accordance with the amnesty proclamation of President Lincoln, General Gillmore issued an order appointing Major John Hay a commissioner to visit Florida, to extend to the rebels of that State the opportunity to return to their allegiance."
To send the commissioner to Florida without an armed force to protect the loyalists from the persecution of the rebels would be a suicidal policy. It was therefore determined to send a force to Florida as a separate district of the Department of the South, and General Truman Seymour was appointed to the command thereof.
On the afternoon of February 6, the expedition under General Seymour left Hilton Head, and landed at Jacksonville, Florida, on the next day. The advance then pushed forward and bivouacked at Baldwin on the evening of the 9th. The cavalry then advanced, occupying Sanderson, on the road to Lake City and Tallahassee.
Our advance under date of February 12, stated that the Union forces were then within two miles of Lake City, where the enemy was found, and with whom there was a prospect of having an encounter.
Up to that time the movement of the Union troops had been attended with complete success, and there is no doubt that the campaign was deemed by the commanders a victory.
A change was, however, in store for the forces in this district. In consequence of the stoppage of our regular dispatches, under the orders of the commander, we are unable to present our readers with complete details; but we give them as full as we can possibly be obtained from the statements of the passengers and others by the Fullerton.
It appears that among the forces that have been brought into this contest were the following:—17th, 45th, and 115th New York Volunteers; 4th and 5th Massachusetts Volunteers; 7th Connecticut; 7th New Hampshire, 1st and 8th United States Cavalry (colored); 1st North Carolina Volunteers; 1st Massachusetts Cavalry, and sections of the 1st and 3d United States Artillery, and the Third Rhode Island Infantry.
The force was not over 10,000 men, more, on the afternoon of the 20th, brought into contact with the rebels under (it is supposed) either Gen. Hardee or Gen. Beauregard. These rebel troops were supposed to number about fifteen thousand men. The engagement took place at Olustee, on the railroad between Jacksonville and Tallahassee, over fifty miles from the former place. Olustee is between Sanderson and Lake City.
From the imperfect accounts we have it would appear that the contest was a most important one, and the effect was the throwing out of the rebels and the troops therefore advanced in force into a trap set by the rebels. The horses attached to the field pieces of Hamilton's battery were shot down by sharpshooters, and the men in attendance suffered severely. The guns belonging to this battery were abandoned. The Fortieth Massachusetts, which had been brought into the fight, was ordered to retreat, the effect of which was to cause them to retreat hastily, leaving their dead and wounded in the hands of the enemy.
During the advance our troops found themselves suddenly in front of a rebel battery, which opened upon them a galling fire almost before they were aware of its presence. The guns of the rebels were concealed by the effect of the effect of their discharge upon the advancing force, and the Union troops were fearful and demoralized. The Union troops fell back in great disorder, and were perfectly panic-stricken.
It is stated that Gen. Seymour has been placed under arrest, and Gen. Israel Vogdes ordered to take command of the district, which has recently been reinforced by a division of veteran troops.
The following extract is from a private letter received by Mr. B. Wyman, of Brooklyn, and contains matter of interest:
"I had hoped Col. Barton would be able to write you by this steamer, but from what I hear from him he is not in a writing condition. The expedition to Florida, from which he was expected to return, had so far proved a failure, and in other words, our troops have been badly defeated."
It seems they were ordered to march too far into the State, and came upon fifteen thousand of the enemy, and a terrible battle ensued. Barton's brigade was in front, and of course suffered badly. Col. Barton had two horses killed under him, and received several balls through his hat, coat, &c., yet he is unhurt.
"There was one of the most anxious days of my whole life. I heard of the fight early in the morning, and that Colonel Barton's whole command had been captured. There were thousands of stories about, and when a steamer full of wounded officers and men came in I learned the truth."
Captain Dunbar and Lieutenant Moser of the 5th, are here wounded; Lieutenant Keenan was killed. I do not know how many of the 48th were killed, but there are a large number wounded, and some are in the hands of the enemy. Two colonels of the brigade are badly wounded and one killed. Every one at this post feels sad enough. I have seen several of the wounded to-day, and I feel that the whole of Florida is not worth half the suffering and anguish this battle has caused.
There will be more hard fighting in Florida yet; and we have not force enough.
The rebels can bring their whole army down there in a short time, and while there is nothing being done at the North there is no reason why they will not do so."
